

List of Required Documents by Country

• In order to convert a foreign driver's license to a Japanese one, you need to prove that you have stayed in the license issuing country, etc. for three months or more in total since you obtained the license.

• In addition to the above-mentioned requirement, we will examine the overall duration of your stay in the license issuing country after obtaining the license.

If your passport does not have immigration stamps with the dates of entering/exiting the country, or your passport does not show immigration records indicating the duration of your stay or the required duration of your stay after obtaining the license, you need to provide document(s) to prove the duration of your stay.

• You need to submit other documents together with the documents listed below. For details, please see "How to convert a foreign license into a Japanese one" on the Tokyo Metropolitan Police Department website.
